

Web Designer/Marketing Professional

Our company seeks a professional entry level Web Designer/Marketing Professional with experience in content management systems to work with the graphic and user interface design of our websites. We're looking for a candidate who has created and maintained functional, attractive websites for companies. We primarily host and maintain government websites and are in the beginning stages of implementing a document imaging solution for Citizen Access. We want to talk to you if your portfolio includes clean, modern, responsive websites with excellent navigational structures and detailed linking. If you stay current with the latest in web design and development trends, you'd be a great fit for this position.
